The Accreditation Council for Clinical Lipidology (ACCL) is pleased to announce that Rhonda J. Hettinger DNP, NP-C, CLS at Personalized Prevention: Your Family & Heart Care has recently been awarded Diplomate status as a Clinical Lipid Specialist (CLS). The ACCL is a nonprofit certifying organization dedicated to reducing the morbidity and mortality from dyslipidemia and related diseases by assessing qualifications and certifying knowledge in clinical lipidology.

Rhonda J Hettinger DNP, NP-C, CLS is a Doctor of Nursing Practice, and as a certified Nurse Practitioner, witnessed the devastating effects of heart attacks and death among patients and their families. As the owner of Personalized Prevention: Your Family & Heart Care, Dr. Hettinger delivers a unique focus on prevention and provides an educational approach to promoting health. “The early detection of heart disease through aggressive screening and treatment is necessary and the most effective means of preventing a heart attack; therefore patients will live longer.”

Dr. Hettinger is one of the first nurse practitioners from across the nation who has achieved this important credential. The designated CLS credentials indicates those healthcare professionals who have distinguished themselves among their colleagues by having satisfied the medical education and rigorous testing requirements established by the ACCL. Professionals in the area of lipid management specialize in the diagnosis and treatment of cholesterol disorders which may cause atherosclerosis leading to cardiovascular disease and death.
